Speedco Will Provide Fleetguard® DEF for 2010 Engines at all 52 Locations

CAYUGA, Ind. (July 15, 2009) – Speedco announced today that they have partnered with Cummins Filtration to provide Diesel Exhaust Fluid (DEF) to all 52 Speedco locations. Company officials announced that 1-gallon containers of DEF will be readily available through Speedco to service the 2010 Selective Catalytic Reduction (SCR) equipped engines, and package goods will be stocked for emergency fills.

“We are delighted that every Speedco location will be fully stocked and ready to support the new 2010 SCR technology,” said Tom Veron, Director of Aftermarket Sales Operations for Cummins Filtration.

“Speedco customers can rest assured that DEF will be in good supply at all their truck lube and tire service locations for rapid response to their needs.”

The new SCR technology is designed to comply with EPA 2010 diesel emissions standards for maximum NOx reduction to provide a cleaner environment. Fleetguard DEF is API certified, meeting ISO 22241 and AUS 32 specifications.

“With our partnership with Cummins Filtration, we mutually support EPA’s mandate for DEF availability throughout our nation’s highways,” said Mark Clark President & CEO of Speedco. “With this addition of DEF, we continue to provide our customers the highest quality of products and services.”

Speedco currently carries the full line of Fleetguard products, including oil, fuel and air filters and coolant to service its owner/operator and fleet customers. Cummins Filtration provides expert technical support and on-site troubleshooting to all customers that require after-treatment chemistry.

A complete list of Speedco locations and services can be found at www.speedco.com, or by calling 1-866-SPEEDCO.
